About Our Mediation Services

When your client needs a mediator, we're here to help. All NEMS partners are available to serve as informed, effective mediators for family-law matters. We stay abreast of trends and changes in the law, as well as how judges are ruling on family law matters.

We mediate both litigated and collaborative law cases. We also serve as arbitrators, on both full and limited issues, often for clients who prefer to avoid the publicity of the courthouse.

To each mediation, we bring long experience as both litigators and collaborative law practitioners. This perspective helps in shaping and negotiating sensitive, wise solutions acceptable to both parties.

We bill for actual time spent, by fractions of the hour, rather than charging a flat fee by the whole day or half day, in most cases. This approach contains costs for your client. Our convenient offices have sufficient space to conduct two full-scale mediations simultaneously, while ensuring privacy.

Together they decided to first take steps to reduce the five-attorney firm's energy use and increase "green" practices. Then they would purchase carbon offsets for remaining greenhouse gas emissions, to make the family law firm "carbon neutral."
